

CERTIFICATE

In terms of the number of individual parts, the world's most complicated wristwatch is the Pignet/Muller/Gerber Grand Complication watch, which contains 1,116 parts. It was most recently added to by master watchmaker Paul Gerber (Switzerland) and is owned by Willy Ernst Sturzenegger, Territorial Earl of Arran (Switzerland).

Keeper of the Records
GUINNESS WORLD RECORDS LTD

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "S. Sturzenegger", is written over the printed name of the Keeper of the Records.